DIW Berlin: Academic Excellence Conference 2009

"End of year summit"

Network Meeting of the DIW Berlin
Current state and outlook on future projects

DIW Berlin, German Institute for Economic Research

December 16-18, 2009

In our December Conference 2009, we want to discuss what prospects the German Institute for Economic Research (DIW Berlin) offers with regard to academic excellence. The aim of the workshop is to bring together researchers working on topics related to the research at DIW Berlin.

We would like to invite participants to present their activities in economics, behavioral and social sciences. Our seven departments, the cross-departmental research groups and the Graduate Center of Economic and Social Research themselves are available for questions about their activities. At the conference, future research projects will be discussed.

The conference will be held at the German Institute for Economic Research (DIW Berlin) in the center of Berlin. The cost for economy class travelling and staying overnight, from 16 to 18 December 2009 in Berlin, will be covered by DIW, if a paper is accepted for presentation. The summit will be organized in cooperation with the Macroeconometric Workshop of DIW Berlin.

For the presentation of research activities, 20 minutes are allowed, plus up to 10 minutes for discussion. An extended abstract (approximately 300 words) or preferably an entire article should reach the conference in advance in doc or pdf format, to be submitted to president@diw.de. The deadline for submission and registration is October 31, 2009. Authors of accepted contributions will be notified by November 15, 2009.
