Reading Aid

This representation of the questionnaire contains the same informations as the portal `paneldata.org`.

The diagram illustrates the structure of a questionnaire entry. It shows two questions, Q72 and Q73, with their respective text and variable labels. The labels are color-coded: blue for identifiers and filters, green for dataset names, variable names, and variable labels, and grey for open or numeric answers.

question number: Q72

question text: Now we would like to know something about you personally. Were you born in Germany?

interviewer instruction: This refers to Germany or the Federal Republic of Germany or the German Democratic Republic in the national borders at the time of your birth.

answer options: Yes (1), No (2), No answer (-1)

in blue: identifier for filter: Q72:lsta1

in blue: filter with condition: Q72:lsta1=2

grey bar: open or numeric answer: (represented by a grey bar)

in green: dataset name, variable name, variable label: bio I0013 born in Germany, bio I0016 Country Of Birth

Here, in addition to the question number, question text, interviewer instructions, and answer options, you find printed in green the file name and the variable name with the variable label, which contains information from the question. If you see rows of green lines below the answer option, the questionnaire defines several variables or informations are stored in more than one data set.

The routing by filters is depicted in blue.

Each variable is preceded by an identifier, which usually contains the question number and which is used when the variable is used in filters in subsequent questions. Such filters are usually placed as input filters (gatekeepers) at the beginning of a question. An identifier that is referred to in the input filter of a subsequent question is marked yellow as an example.

This reading aid does not cover a few exceptional cases: If the filter (as gatekeeper) only affects one of several variables for a question, the filter is printed in blue behind the variable. There you will also find a "go to" command in the form 2 @ Q73. Here, the questionnaire skips to question 73 if answer 2 was given.

Phrases that are not already translated in English are displayed in German and preceded by [de].

UE23 Innovation module on emotion recognition

Q67 In the following study you will see 12 pictures showing one or 3 individuals. Your task is to identify the emotions of the individual in the middle. The emotions are not acted, they were captured during narrations. Therefore, it will not always be easy to correctly identify the emotions. The pictures will only be shown for a short time. As soon as the picture is removed, you are to rate the emotion of the individual in the middle of the group or the single individual on several scales of emotion. If you click “Continue”, a short example video will be shown. You can continue in the following questionnaire by clicking the upper right arrow.

Please give the laptop to the participant for self-report.

UE46 Innovation module financial market expectation

Q849 We would like to talk to you about your expectations regarding the stock market.

Please click "Continue" and give the laptop to the participant.

Q850A Please imagine investing 50,000 € from your own property. You can spread this amount on these two investments: 1. government bonds of the German state that yield an interest of 4% guaranteed. 2. The German stock index DAX that combines the economic development of 30 large companies from Germany. Please imagine further that the earnings of the investment will be paid out exactly one year from now. The calculation is as follows: 1. To calculate the return of your investment in federal bonds is straight forward: An interest of 4% yields you 4€ for certain for each 100€ you have invested. 2. If you win or lose with your investment in the DAX depends on profit or loss that the DAX undergoes in the next year till [current day],[current month],[Survey year + 1]. If the DAX, for example, increases by 15% you will gain 15€ profit for each 100€ you have invested. Vice versa, if the DAX decreases by 15% you will lose 15€ for each 100€ you have invested. Profit and loss behave analogously for any other percentage gain or loss of the DAX. Please imagine we would determine the investments in one year from now and pay out both investments.

Q850B It might not be easy to come to a decision. That's why we provide additional information. We have randomly chosen two years from 1951-2016. In these two years, the DAX yielded, first, a [profit/loss] of [profit/loss] percent, and second, a [profit/loss] of [profit/loss] percent.

[n7441006Eins + n7441006Zwei <> 50000 & Q850CF1 >= 0 ]

Q850C In summary: The Federal Government Bond yields a return of 4% in any case, while investments in the DAX are linked to the actual development of the DAX over the next year on a 1:1 ratio. Please take your time to consider how you would split up the 50.000 EUR between the two investments. How much of the 50.000 EUR do you invest in the Federal Government Bond and how much in the DAX?

In the Federal Government Bond, EUR:

In the DAX, EUR:

UE69 Innovation module on income distribution Part 2

UE70 Treatment

[Q20195120,1] [nGruppe = 2]

Q269 Now, we would like to talk about the distribution of gross household income per capita in Germany and worldwide. This data is based on representative and independently collected data of scientifically recognized institutions, such as the panel study “Leben in Deutschland” (life in Germany), the World Bank and the Luxembourg Income Study Center. There shall be no discussions or feedback regarding the correctness of the participants’ estimates. If the participant asks about the correctness of their estimates, please point out that it will be determined at the end of the module.

[Q20195120,1] [nGruppe = 2]

Q270 [Amount]% of the German population are poorer than you, meaning that they have a total gross household income per capita which is lower than yours. Please let the participant look at the screen for the picture “Stickmen Germany”.

Q271 [Amount]% of the world’s population are poorer than you, meaning that they have a total gross household income per capita which is lower than yours. Please let the participant look at the screen for the picture “Stickmen Worldwide”.

UE71 Questions after the treatment - Part 1

Q272 Now we are going to talk about redistribution. Redistribution of income means that the state reduces the differences in income between citizens via taxes and transfer payments.

[nGruppe = 2]

Q273 How much redistribution of income between the citizens of Germany do you support? No redistribution means that the state does not interfere in the distribution of income. Complete redistribution means that everyone earns the same income after redistribution is conducted.

Please answer on the following scale: 1 equals "no redistribution". 10 equals "complete redistribution". You can use the values in between to make your estimate.

UE72 Experiment

Q276 Now, we would like to give you two tasks with which you could earn money again. In the two tasks, you have to decide whether to split a certain amount of money between another household and you or not. At the end, every 7th participant will be selected and their decision in one of the two tasks will be paid out. Whether your decision will be paid out is determined at the end of the module. The actual payment will occur at the end of the interview.

Q277 You were paired with another household in Germany who is also a participant in the innovation sample "Leben in Deutschland" but is not taking part in this interview. This household belongs to the poorest 10 percent of households in Germany. Now, you have 50 EUR at your disposal and can split this amount between the other household and you in any way you want. If this task is selected for payout, you will receive the amount you decided to keep at the end of the interview. The amount you want to give the other household will be given in full to the other household (without transaction costs) at the end of the field period by Kantar Public. In full means that every given euro will be received by the other household 1:1. I ask you to make this decision alone now.

Please give the laptop to the participant.

This is happening not only due to technological progress, but also reduction of trade barriers. How much globalization to you support? You will see small pictures illustrating similarity between your current self and your past or future self. For each of the following time frames, please choose the picture that fits you best.

Upon inquiry: Past: What are the personality features, attitudes, values and life goals that make you the person you are today? The greater the change in these characteristics has been over time, the lower you should rate the similarity to your past self. Future: What are the personality features, attitudes, values and life goals that make you the person you are today? The greater you expect the change in these characteristics to be over time, the lower you should rate the similarity to your future self.
