

Workshop: How does the Covid-19 pandemic affect societal inequalities?

October 6, 2021, 13.00 - 17.00 hrs (CET), virtual event

Organizers

GaP Risk-Team: PIs: Claudia Hövener (Robert Koch Institute), Oliver Razum (Bielefeld University), Carsten Schröder, and Sabine Zinn (Socio-Economic Panel at DIW Berlin)

Scientists: Emily Finne (Bielefeld University), Niels Michalski (Robert Koch Institute)

START OF PART 2: INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP
13:00 - 13:10	Introduction	GaPRisk Team
13:10 - 13:35	Mental Health Costs of Lockdowns: Evidence from Age-Specific Curfews in Turkey	Bilge Erten, Northeastern University and IZA
13:35 - 14:00	The Impact of the Coronavirus Lockdown on MentalHealth: Evidence from the US	Marta Golin, UZH
14:00-14:25	Mental health and COVID-19 among adults in the UK	Meena Kumari, University of Essex
14:25-14:40	BREAK
14:40 - 15:05	The Unequal Pandemic: COVID-19 and Health Inequalities	Claire Welsh, Newcastle University
15:05 - 15:30	Social and ethnic inequalities in COVID-19: a UK perspective	Claire Niedzwiedz, University of Glasgow
15:30 - 15:55	Predicting the effects of COVID-19 related interventions in urban settings by combining activity-based modelling, agent-based simulation, and mobile phone data	Kai Nagel, Technical University Berlin
15:55-16:05	BREAK
16:05 - 16:30	Fundamental social causes in health disparities in COVID: Analyses of COVID spread and outcomes in the US	Sean Clouston, Stony Brook Medicine, New York
16:30 - 17:00	Closing remarks and good-bye	GaP Risk Team
END		