

INVITATION

to a book presentation and discussion

hosted by DIW Berlin & United Nations Association of Germany

MAKING PEACE WORK

The Challenge of Social and Economic Reconstruction

"With the wrong priorities, the end of war and conflict may have saved lives, but will have done little for livelihoods."

Afghanistan, Somalia, Bosnia, Kosovo or Georgia – reconstruction from war and conflict is a daunting task. Countries face huge challenges with too few resources to meet these needs: rebuilding infrastructure, assisting war-damaged communities, re-creating weakened institutions.

And without proper reconstruction, countries may easily regress back into war, as numerous examples around the world sharply illustrate.

In our book presentation, the editors of "Making Peace Work" offer examples of what works and what doesn't.

The book will be featured and discussed by

Prof. Tony Addison

Development Studies, University of Manchester; previously Deputy Director at the World Institute for Development Economics Research of the United Nations University

Prof. Tilman Brück

Head of the Department of International Economics at DIW Berlin

Dr. Andreas Rinke

Security and Foreign Affairs Editor at Handelsblatt

Moderator: Carel Mohn

Head of Communications, DIW Berlin

The publication of the book was made possible by support from the World Institute for Development Economics Research of the United Nations University.
